

OVERVIEW

Nadine Mathieu is a Practice Partner at Kelley Kronenberg handling matters related to first-party insurance defense.

Before joining the firm, Nadine worked as an Associate Attorney at a firm where she gained experience defending insurance companies in first and third-party coverage claims. She also has experience working on commercial real estate transactions and legislative affairs.

Nadine earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Florida Atlantic University and a Master of Business Administration degree from Devry University, Keller Graduate School of Management. She then went on to earn her Juris Doctor degree from Nova Southeastern University, Shepard Broad College of Law. While in law school, she served as the Assistant Lead Articles Editor for Nova Law Review, was a Governor for the Florida Bar Young Lawyers Division, and Law Student Division, and was a member of the Nova Trial Association. She also made the Dean's List several semesters in a row and received a number of other honors. Additionally, she held several Law Clerk positions and served as a Legal Intern for the Office of the City Attorney of Coral Springs.
