

Design and construction contracts are the foundations for a successful project. Proper drafting is essential to ensure that clients are properly protected from claims. Our attorneys routinely work with industry form contracts such as the American Institute of Architects (AIA), Associated General Contractors of America (AGC), and Engineers Joint Contract Documents Committee (EJCDC), negotiating contracts ranging from small projects such as single-family homes to multi-million dollar hotels and public facilities. Our attorneys bring years of knowledge to the bargaining table and know how to “get the deal done” while still protecting our clients’ interests.
