KELLEY KRONENBERG GROWS IN MIAMI

In major growth mode in Miami, Kelley Kronenberg moved into a new Miami office and added two new lawyers.

The Fort Lauderdale-based law firm with more than 100 lawyers in 10 offices recently leased larger space in the Sabadell Bank building at 1111 Brickell Ave., where 19 lawyers are based. The firm has doubled its attorney head count in Miami since launching last year in a temporary office.

"This new office space reflects our growing brand and overall goal of establishing a stronger presence in the area," Michael Fichtel, CEO and principal partner, said in a statement.

Most of the legal work in Miami is focused on general liability and complex insurance defense, broadening the firm's statewide property and casualty defense practice.

The new lawyers are partner Steven Scharf and associate Shaghayegh Nowroozpour. Both came from insurance defense firm Marcos Rothman Scharf Valdes & Goldstein's Hollywood office. (Julie Kay)
